Greg Cecil is a partner in LP's Real Estate Group. Greg's broad range of experience includes the acquisition, financing, development, re-development, leasing and disposition of retail, office and industrial properties. He assists institutional clients, individual investors and joint-ventures groups in the due diligence process, and negotiates a variety of ancillary documents, including: loan agreements, purchase and sale agreements, management agreements, broker agreements, construction agreements and easements.

Prior to joining LP, Greg was Vice President, General Counsel for a Midwest commercial real estate developer, owner and operator. In addition to representing the company in all legal, transactional, corporate and regulatory matters, Greg developed and implemented cost effective, strategic, cross-functional processes and procedures for buying, financing, leasing, operating and selling diverse and complex commercial real estate assets.
